

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Jack, who served as a web developer at Love Communications. As the Lead Developer on our team, I had the privilege of overseeing Jack's contributions and observing his remarkable technical abilities and commitment to providing high-quality web solutions over the last year and a half.

Jack consistently showcased his proficiency in HTML, CSS, and WordPress theme development. His capability to design custom WordPress themes, follow industry best practices, enhance accessibility, and guarantee smooth functionality played a vital role in the success of numerous significant projects. A prime example is the website for the Association for Utah Community Health (auch.org), where Jack was the lead developer and worked closely with the designer to realize the site with minimal guidance.

Jack's dedication to continuous learning and growth was evident throughout his tenure on our team. He proactively sought out opportunities to sharpen his skills by attending developer conferences and investigating new tools and methodologies. This enthusiasm for self-improvement made him an invaluable member of our team.

Jack reliably meets deadlines and consistently delivers work of the highest caliber. Unfortunately, due to insufficient projects to fully engage him, we faced the tough decision to let Jack go. However, I firmly believe that any organization would significantly benefit from his technical prowess and commitment.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you need any additional information or have specific inquiries regarding my experience working with Jack.

Sincerely,

Spencer Hill

Web Developer
